

Attention: Human Resources Recruitment

My name is Seth Martini, and I'm a 27 year old Multimedia Specialist and Illustrator who has been actively seeking an entry level position in the print, web or entertainment fields.

I have an innate love and respect for arts, and the conveyance of an idea through visual communications. It has been a childhood dream to collaborate with great minds in a professional environment and really innovate something that conveys emotion and truth to the viewer. I have a lot of experience conceptualizing and designing graphics for print and web, including photo-manipulation, typography and layout skills. I have the ability to animate with Adobe Flash, video editing with Final Cut Express, as well as designing and developing a website with HTML, CSS and Javascript.

With my BA, AS and AA, I have acquired more than just higher understanding of how an artist makes a pretty picture. I have divulged a large part of my personal and college life to develop great organization, attention to detail and great communication skills through my experiences in business and production environments. In the many creative internships and jobs I've have had since graduation, I have learned to work as a team as well as solo and achieve a resolve which works for me and my colleagues and clientele. I have a lot of experience taking an idea and evolving it from sketches to a final piece independently. I can also handle constructive criticisms, multiple tasks and edits with confidence and trust in my decisions.

I strongly urge you to view my resume and online portfolio at www.sethmartini.com, so you may see that I design with a greater intent and logical reasoning. I would love the opportunity to interview with your company and continue creating in a well-organized and productive environment. Thank you so much for your consideration!

With deepest respect,

Seth Martini
